Professional Audio Processing for the Modern Artist

Kevin Morris, Chief Architect | All N One LLC
June 2026

The Problem

Raw audio is unpredictable. Peaks overshoot. Loudness drifts. Tracks that sounded great in the studio clip on the streaming platform. Traditional compressors and limiters solve this, but they introduce artifacts: pumping, breathing, loss of transients, and phase distortion. The modern artist needs a signal processor that is fast, transparent, and mathematically verified, without the tradeoffs of legacy tools.

The Solution: MLK v3

MLK v3, the Morris Law Kernel V3, is a multi-band amplitude carving engine with three parallel processing stages and adaptive normalization.

Three frequency bands receive independent carving: bass is boosted, mid is preserved, high is controlled. After phase-coherent recombination, the signal is normalized to a 0.92 peak ceiling.

No clipping. No artifacts. No guesswork. Just a verified, broadcast-ready output every single time.

The Brand: GravelKing

Kevin Morris, Chief Architect. Over 1,500 tracks produced. Born in Louisiana, raised in a musical family, two retired-professional older brothers.

The name GravelKing came from fellow artists who noticed the raw grit in Kevin's voice. It stuck. It became the brand.

Today, Kevin performs live on StarMaker as KevJamm84 at The Juke Joint party room, Friday and Saturday nights at 8 PM CST.

The grit that earned the name is the same grit that built MLK v3.
